

We Are Selling Shoes

Began this morning. No half-hearted effort, either. The modern shoemaker—a factory that covers acres of ground, half a dozen stories tall—deserves that its facilities redound to the consumer's advantage. Better footwear is now produced in this country for less money than ever before at any price in any country. We proved to our own satisfaction that—

"Queen Quality" embodies every virtue of the highest-priced shoe made.

We offer it to you on that proposition. Of fifty-nine styles manufactured, almost half a hundred are here for your choosing in every style and last. The uniform prices are—

$3 FOR BOOTS $2.50 FOR OXFORDS

You may pay more for less; you can't buy better at any price.

This new shoe store is over "The Press," adjoining our suit department on the second floor. You reach it by the west elevator. If you haven't a present shoe want visit it anyhow for the show of spring style footwear and the beauty of its furnishings. You'll be well repaid.

ENTRANCE TO FACTORIES

GAINED BY ALLEGED ASSISTANT FACTORY INSPECTORS.

Secret Processes of Manufacture at the Mercy of Unscrupulous Persons.

State Factory Inspector McAbee said yesterday that it had come to his knowledge that there were a number of people throughout the State who were palming themselves off as assistant factory inspectors. He said the object of these people was to find out the secret processes of the factories by pretending to go through them on a tour of inspection. There are many factories in the State which have secret processes of manufacture, and it is almost impossible for any one outside of the factory to discover them.

All sorts of schemes are resorted to by rival concerns to find out the processes of manufacture of their competitors, but it is only of late they have gone so far as to represent themselves as assistant factory inspectors. One man had the temerity to ask Inspector McAbee for an appointment as assistant inspector for just two days. The request was indignantly refused.

Heretofore the assistant inspectors have only had cards on which were printed their names and the offices, but hereafter each assistant inspector will have a certificate from the Governor, stamped with the seal of the State, which will make it almost impossible for any false representative to enter the factories as an alleged assistant inspector.

THE DISTRICT BATTLES

REPUBLICANS HAVE HELD CONVENTIONS IN ALL BUT FIVE.

The Democrats Have Held No Congressional Conventions So Far—Political Notes.

In Indiana, Republican congressional conventions have been held in all the districts except the Second, Third, Fourth, Fifth and Twelfth. In these districts, with the exception of the Fifth, Representative Faris's district, the representatives are Democrats, and the Republicans heretofore have always gone into elections in these districts with the feeling that there was no great chance of winning.

The date for holding the convention in the Fifth district has been fixed, but in the other districts the Republicans will wait until the Democrats have made their nominations, before announcing their candidates. The Fifth district convention will be held on May 15. Since it has been announced that Representative Faris will probably not be a candidate for re-nomination, there is more or less interest all over the State in the probable action of the convention. Several candidates are being talked of in the Fifth district. One is Silas A. Hays, of Putnam county. Another is Howard Maxwell, of Parke county, and a third is Robert Catlin, of Vigo county. J. Smith Talley, another Vigo county man, is being talked of. James S. Barcus, editor of the Terre Haute Tribune, is, perhaps, the most talked of candidate at the present time. A. H. Higgins, of Terre Haute, is also understood to be in the race.

In the Second district several names have been mentioned. This is the district represented by Robert W. Miers. Among the names that will probably be presented to the convention are those of John C. Chaney, of Sullivan; E. A. Bowen, of Vincennes, and Peter Wordworth, of Washington. These three candidates are all lawyers.

In the Third district, which has been considered hopelessly Democratic, the candidates are Professor Borden, of the Jeffersonville school; J. C. Conrod, of Corydon; and John D. Williams, of New Albany. The latter is assistant attorney to the general counsel of the L. & N. R. Co. and is an excellent chance of being nominated. The Third district representative in Congress is W. T. Zenor, of Corydon.

The representative of the Fourth district is Francis M. Griffiths, of Vevey. The list of Republican candidates in this district has not yet been received at state committee headquarters.

Republicans from the Twelfth district, who come to the city these days, speak very enthusiastically of conditions in that district and say there is an excellent chance of electing a Republican congressman to succeed J. M. Robinson, of Fort Wayne. The Republicans will probably nominate Robert W. Miers, of Fort Wayne.

Some of the Democratic conventions to nominate representatives to Congress has yet been held in this State. The Democratic representatives in Congress are, of course, candidates for re-nomination. In the First district there are four candidates. They are John W. Spencer, of Evansville, who was formerly a member of the Democratic state committee; Thomas Duncan, of Princeton; T. H. Dillon, of Petersburg; and J. J. Noland, of Evansville. It is said that Spencer can have the nomination if he wants it. Dillon, it is claimed, was formerly a Republican, but he has since changed his allegiance. The following candidates are announced: Second District—Robert W. Miers, Bloomington; Third District—William Zenor and Joseph Shea; Fourth District—Francis M. Griffiths and John Overmyer; Fifth District—Samuel Hammill, John G. McCurt, John T. Beasley and Frank A. Horner; Sixth District—David W. McKee, Benjamin L. Smith and Lon Mull; Seventh District—John V. Kern, A. G. Smith, James E. McCullough, John W. Keating and Joseph E. Bell; Eighth District—James Morrison, Judge Davis, Thomas Foley and J. T. Day; Ninth District—Capt. D. F. Allen, Judge Davis, Michael Foley and John W. McCordie; Tenth District—Daniel Sims; Eleventh District—Frank Kessler; Twelfth District—J. M. Robinson and Judge Samuel M. Hench.

Twelfth District—M. M. Hathaway and Robert M. Johnson.

A Political Handbook.

Robert R. Bennett, a clerk at the Republican State committee rooms, is preparing a political handbook of Indiana for the year 1900, which will be ready for distribution about the middle of April. The book will contain a list of the precinct committees of the State and much other information that will be of value during the campaign. It will also contain likenesses of the members of the Republican State committee.

First District Conditions.

George W. Cunningham, of Evansville, committee man from the First district, was at State headquarters yesterday and spoke of the political conditions in his district. He says the First district has never been in better shape for a campaign, and he asserts that if the other districts will do as well as the First, they will show up well when the time to vote arrives.

Candidate for Statistician.

Benjamin F. Johnson, of Fowler, Republican candidate for State statistician, was in town yesterday. Although Mr. Johnson's name, though ready for consideration, was not on the list of candidates printed in the Journal a few days ago, he is in the race and expects to remain until the State convention decides on a candidate.

VILLAGE FOR EPILEPTICS

Is Recommended by the State Board of Charities.

The Board of State Charities filed its annual report with the Governor yesterday. Among other things suggested is the establishment of a village for epileptics. In each of the insane hospitals and in the School for Feeble-minded Youths there are a number of epileptics, whom the report says, should justly be provided for elsewhere. The total number of epileptics in the insane hospitals and the School for Feeble-minded Youths is 735, and it is estimated that there are more than two thousand epileptics in the State who are cared for with private means. The report also says that the Board of Charities is relieved of the duty of having to enforce the compulsory education law, because it does not properly come within the duties of the board.

A MAP OF THE WORLD

Purchased by a Woman at "Rummage Sale"—A Prospective Groom.

Another busy day at the "rummage sale" yesterday put the women in charge in excellent spirits. Before 9 o'clock there were customers waiting to get in the store, and the crowd continued all day. The weather, too, brought out many people who had shopping to do, and when they visited the "rummage sale" they found so many good bargains that they made purchases they probably never intended to make. One young man amused the ladies very much yesterday morning. He told one of them that he was going to be married shortly and he wanted to look at some furniture and carpets. The young man bought enough furnishings for two rooms from the "rummage sale," and he was one of the happiest purchasers the ladies have had to ## deal with thus far. Before he left the sale he went up to the counter where odds and ends of bric-a-brac are sold and bought a vase for the woman who waited on him.

A modest, quiet-looking woman was one of the visitors to the sale who attracted some little attention yesterday. She was looking around, and finally discovered a map of the world on the wall. It was an old one, but she did not care, and purchased it for five cents. She then told the woman who waited on her that she had always wanted a map of the world. She continued: "My little girl goes to school, and she is so fond of geography that I tried to buy her a map for a Christmas present, but they were so expensive that I could not afford even a little one—and to think that I have this big one for five cents. I am going home now and hang it up before my little girl comes home from school, and she will know me just where I'm at." A woman yesterday told one of the ladies in charge of the sale that her husband had been into the counters. Benjamin Harrison had sent some things to the sale, and he told her not to come home without something, even if it was only a piece of broken furniture, so long as it once belonged to General Harrison. Unfortunately, everything was sold that General Harrison had sent, but the woman bought a picture of the ex-President instead, although she was very much disappointed. Miss Fraser, treasurer of the Boys' Club, deposited $156 yesterday in the bank, making a total of $88.

DELEGATION IS HEARD

BLOOMINGTON CITIZENS WANT THE INDIANAPOLIS SOUTHERN.

They Urge Upon the Officers the Importance of Changing the Proposed Route.

A delegation of the business men and the bankers of the city of Bloomington, composed of Hon. N. U. Hill, Professor Blatchley, State geologist, James Karsen, J. C. Frazee, John B. Crofton, Joseph Swain, president of the State University; Oscar Fullwider, W. P. Rogers, dean of the law department of the State University; W. S. Bradfute, editor of the Daily Telephone; S. C. Dodds and William Showers, accompanied by Dr. Alvin Maxwell and James L. Mitchell, of Indianapolis, former residents of Bloomington, met the board of directors of the Indianapolis Southern Railway yesterday afternoon and presented to them the advantages of changing the present surveyed line so as to have the road pass through Bloomington. The statements made by members of the delegation respecting the freight business which could be secured from Bloomington and Monroe county, and the great passenger business which could be controlled by the Indianapolis Southern Railway owing to the university located there, which is attended by more than 100 students, made a very favorable impression on the directors. When the members of the delegation had expressed their views, D. M. Parry, president of the company, stated that the board of directors would consider the proposition. The board of directors and given immediate consideration.

A SET OF QUADRUPLETS

THEY ATTRACT MUCH ATTENTION AT THE UNION STATION.

The Parents Are Harvey H. Childress and Wife, of Nashville, Tenn.—Stopped in This City.

Harvey H. Childress, his wife and four children, of Nashville, Tenn., arrived over the Lake Erie & Western from Fort Wayne last night, and attracted much attention on South Illinois street near the Union Station. The four children are quadruplets, and are paired off, two boys and two girls. They were born in the Southern climate and will be six years old the 9th day of next April.

At birth they weighed eight and three-quarter pounds, and now all four tip the scales at forty-one pounds, the weight of each not varying more than one pound. They are a bright, lively little quartet, and each is possessed of considerable acrobatic ability. The girls especially are active, and twist their little bodies into all sorts of shapes. They have not known a sick day since their birth, and are now strong and healthy. They resemble each other closely, that it would be difficult to distinguish one from the other were it not for their clothes. Their complexion and color of eyes are identical, and were it not for the fact that one of the boys has hair a shade lighter than the other, they could not be told from the other. Mr. Childress sometimes dresses them all in boys' clothes, and he says he has to take some pains to look to pick them out. The father is thirty-three years old and the mother thirty-six. Mr. Childress says that this is the only set of quadruplets of a similar age in the world.

GOV. TAYLOR RECOGNIZED

By Governor Mount in Issuing a Requisition.

The first requisition to the Governor of Kentucky since the trouble resulting from the gubernatorial election in that State was issued yesterday by Governor Mount and addressed to Governor Taylor. As the fugitive has not been arrested, his name was not disclosed. In speaking of the requisition yesterday, Colonel Chauncey Wilcox, secretary to the Governor, said it reminded him that only a few days ago a very prominent Democrat from Kentucky, who intended making a trip to Europe in the near future, had come to Indiana and had asked Governor Mount for letters of introduction and recommendation to the United States diplomatic corps in Europe, completely ignoring both claimants to the governorship of Kentucky.

Death of Mary Feeney.

Mary Feeney, one of the orphan girls of St. Joseph's Industrial School, died at the Institution Monday morning. She had been ill since last May. She was left an orphan when very young, and was taken to St. Ann's Asylum at Terre Haute, and about three years ago she, with a number of companions, was brought to the St. Joseph's Industrial School. She possessed a very lovable disposition and endeared herself to all who knew her. The funeral services took place in the Sisters' Chapel, and were conducted by the Rev. D. O'Donoghue.

INNER CIRCLES SHAKEN

A. D. STREIGHT CIRCLE, LADIES OF THE G. A. R., IN A TURMOIL.

Justice Smoek Is Wrestling with a Momentous Problem—Man at Bottom of It.

There is trouble in the G. A. R. The trouble started several months ago, and has been taken into a justice's court. Justice Smoek had the case on trial all day yesterday, and, according to the State's attorney, one or two days more will be necessary to complete it. The case is one of provocation and is entitled "The State of Indiana against John W. Oliver."

The organization is composed of women. Men are admitted to honorary membership, but do not have a voice in the movement of the order, nor do they have a vote. On Feb. 15 Mrs. Alice Kramer, of Tippecanoe county, president of the Indiana department, was present at a meeting of the order. She was present by invitation. Several weeks before she had installed the newly-elected officers, and though her authority in the State order is supreme, several of the members took exception to the manner in which it was done. Oliver was made an honorary member about six weeks ago, and it is claimed that he became the leader in the opposition to Mrs. Kramer's methods.

At the meeting Feb. 16 he arose and asked permission to talk with the department president, and it was granted. As there was considerable noise in the room it was proposed they adjourn to the ante-room. There, Mrs. Kramer claims, he called her an old fool, said she was no lady, shook his fist in her face and threatened to have her "strapped." She tried to get into the ante-room, but he held the door and she was obliged to call for assistance. He followed her into the room and continued talking in an insulting manner to her. The case was then taken to the jury. Mrs. Kramer claims, he called her an old fool, said she was no lady, shook his fist in her face and threatened to have her "strapped." She tried to get into the ante-room, but he held the door and she was obliged to call for assistance. He followed her into the room and continued talking in an insulting manner to her. The case was then taken to the jury.

COURTROOM FILLED.

The courtroom was filled yesterday with witnesses and members of the order who were there as spectators. She tried to get into the ante-room, but he held the door and she was obliged to call for assistance. He followed her into the room and continued talking in an insulting manner to her. The case was then taken to the jury. At one time fifty-eight persons were counted in the courtroom. Ex-Lieutenant Governor Hanna, who is an honorary member of the order, was counsel for the defendant, and on this account there were many amusing situations, especially when Mrs. Kramer was on the stand. She pleaded ignorance of court etiquette, and to the surprise of the spectators, she was allowed to remain on the stand. She was then asked by the State's attorney to "shake his fist." During his examination it appeared that several other members of the order had been present at the time the case was heard. Mrs. Kramer had met at his house and decided to fight the matter, and he was selected as spokesman, and his action, taken that night was the result of the conference.

Members of the order discussed the trouble in the courtroom and Justice Smoek was often obliged to call them to order, as the testimony of witnesses could not be heard. The charges and evidence of witnesses do not seem to tell the whole truth. Some of the members say that Oliver is a Spiritualist, and has a following composed of other Spiritualists and members of the order who desire to run the affairs of the order. It is also said that a great deal of charges have been made for trial by court-martial in the lodge. It is also said that some of the Spiritualist members of the order have been expelled from the lodge for "telling things" of an undesirable character if she did not uphold their cause.

WILL WORK TOGETHER.

Committee That Will Entertain American Health Association.

The two committees whose business it will be to arrange for the meeting of the American Public Health Association in this city in October, met together and organized into one body yesterday. The meeting was held at the Commercial Club at noon. One of these committees was appointed by the Commercial Club and the other by the County Medical Society. The combined committee is composed of the following: W. H. Armstrong, John N. Carey, F. A. W. Davis, T. C. Day, A. Kiefer, J. K. Lilly, Dr. C. B. McCullough, George Merritt, S. E. Rauh, Dr. O. S. Runnels, Dr. Louis Burkhardt, Dr. Guido Bell, Dr. John Kolmer, Dr. J. O. Sullivan, Dr. T. B. Noble, Dr. J. G. Enderbater, Dr. J. N. Hurty, Dr. L. H. Dunning, Dr. H. M. Lash and Dr. Theodore Potter. The joint organization elected W. H. Armstrong chairman and Dr. J. N. Hurty secretary. Other committees will be appointed. The president of the American Public Health Association is Professor Bryce, of Toronto. It is expected that about 100 delegates will attend the Indianapolis convention, which is to be held the first week in October.

DUNCAN BOY'S FUNERAL

Is Attended by Mr. and Mrs. Schwartz—Floral Offerings.

The funeral of John Duncan, who died from injuries received in a schoolboys' fight with Peter Schwartz, was held yesterday at the home of Thomas Bannan, 424 Downey street. The casket was covered with floral offerings of schoolmates and friends. There was a beautiful design sent by the father and mother of the young lad who had caused his death. All day long little children who had known the boy called at the house to look for the last time upon their playmate's face. W. V. Wheeler, of the Rescue Mission, conducted the funeral service and made no allusion to the cause of his death. This was the request of the boy's mother, out of consideration for Mr. and Mrs. Schwartz, who attended the funeral. The burial was at the Mt. Jackson Cemetery.

Two Kentuckians in Court.

Two tramps, who were sent to police headquarters, Thursday evening, by Patrolman Coulson, furnished considerable amusement in Police Court yesterday. Deputy City Prosecutor Snyder assisting. When searched, the men had each two bottles of whisky in their hip pockets. The bottles and contents were dubbed "Kentucky." The prosecutor then had the men testified that they were there. Both men became much alarmed at the subsequent questioning, thinking they were being connected with the murder. They were released by Judge Daly and made haste to get away from the police station.

Grand Army Women's Social.

The ladies of the Grand Army gave a box social in Shover's Hall last night, the proceeds of which will be contributed to the general relief fund. The purpose of the organization is benevolent as well as social, and it is also stated that there are among the poor of the city that are related to the old soldiers. Mrs. Alice Kramer, the department commander, of Lafayette, was present and addressed the meeting. She is now on a tour of the State organizing new circles. At present, only widows, daughters and sisters of soldiers of the civil war are eligible to membership, and Mrs. Kramer said that steps are being taken to extend the same privilege to the veterans of the Spanish-American war.

A NATIVE OF DAMASCUS

Will Lecture at the First Presbyterian Church To-morrow Night.

Rev. Muhanna E. Barakat, a Syrian, will deliver an address at the First Presbyterian Church to-morrow evening on "Evidences from Bible Lands." The lecture will be illustrated by charts. Mr. Barakat was born in Damascus, Syria. His parents were massacred by the Mohammedans when he was but five years of age. He is a graduate of the American Protestant College in Beirut, Syria. He has on more than one occasion witnessed the massacre of the Christians by the Mohammedans, and has had several narrow escapes with his own life. He has traveled extensively through Palestine and has given a great deal of his time to the collection of data for his lecture.

POISON DOES ITS WORK

REASON WHY MRS. ELIZABETH BLACK COMMITTED SUICIDE.

The Neighbors Talk Freely About Her Relations with Her Husband—Another Woman.

Mrs. Elizabeth Black, living at 1538 Hillside avenue, who took poison at 5:30 yesterday evening, as related in yesterday's Journal, died about 5:30 yesterday morning, after twelve hours of terrible suffering. The motive for the act was given out as despondency, but the true cause, according to neighbors, was another woman. Her husband, Frank J. Black, is employed at the Atlas engine works, where it is said he earns about $2.50 a day. There was a family named Ray in the neighborhood, and Black worked with Ray at the factory. Black became acquainted with Mrs. Ray, and neighbors say that Ray removed his family to West Indianapolis several weeks ago to get away from Black. Wednesday last Mrs. Ray left a note for her husband saying she was going away and would not return, and that it was useless to hunt for her, as she would not live with him again. Wednesday, it is said, Mrs. Black learned that her husband did not go to work as usual, and remained away from home until the following morning. She went to West Indianapolis, and there learned that Mrs. Ray had left home. While Mrs. Black was in West Indianapolis Ray visited the Black domicile. Black returned home Thursday and left again, and this led Mrs. Black to think that her husband intended to desert her to go with the other woman. Mrs. Black is also said to have told a woman friend with whom she lived, that she had a deal of her time that her husband compelled her to sell furniture out of the house in order to buy money for the money, but was at the time earning $2.50 a day. Neighbors claimed that her during the night of suffering, and Black was very attentive to her, giving them money to buy medicine and other things needed.

TRUSTED A STRANGER.

William Dunn, of Smith's Grove, Ky., Meets Two Bunco Men.

It was the old check game which again called the detectives to the Union Station last evening. William Dunn, of Smith's Grove, Warren county, Kentucky, had been fleeced out of $10. His story was as follows: One of them walked up and wanted to know where I was from. I said Smith's Grove and was going to Moonmouth, Ill. He was going right there. His son was going, too, and he wanted to go where his son was at to see about some baggage, and so I went. He said he would give me a pass at reduced rates. I went on with him till we got to the corner (Illinois and Georgia streets), and some one ran up behind and called "Mason." He stopped. The other man wanted pay for his baggage. He said he did not have the money, but would get it from his son, and then he asked me if I had any money. I said I had a little and wanted to know how much. I said $15, $25 or $30, and he wanted $30. I thought to myself you are a stranger to me and I won't do it. He pulled out a check for $30 and we talked some more and I let him have $10. He said he would go with the other man and see about the baggage and "come right back." No, I haven't seen them since. The descriptions given of the men led the officers to believe that the two men are the ones who have often worked the same game here.

THREE INSANE PERSONS.

They Will at Once Be Committed to the Central Hospital.

Three insanity proceedings were held at the county clerk's office yesterday, and in each case the patient was adjudged insane. Mrs. Melvina Johnson, living at 536 West Pearl street, labored under a religious hallucination and thinks that her husband and nurse want to kill her. Lulu Smith, 519 Warsaw street, thinks that some one is trying to steal her husband and imagines that she talks to spirits. Henry Bruening, of Center township, thinks he is possessed of great power and wealth, and has been going about inviting persons to attend his marriage with an unknown woman. He also imagines that his neighbors are striving to do him some injury.

THE MURDER OF STOUT.

Police Officers Still Think Sanford and Tulley the Men.

Information was received, yesterday, from Chief of Police Campbell, of St. Louis, that the register at the Swan Hotel, where Sanford and Tulley, the two men thought to be the murderers of John B. Stout, stopped, shows now that they registered there on March 11, the same day that Stout was shot. It is also stated that there are evidences of the record having been tampered with. The St. Louis police and the Cincinnati police are certain that Sanford and Tulley are the men, and the investigation has been going about about the shooting. It was received by an afternoon paper, is now thought to have been written by Sanford or Tulley, and it will be compared with their handwriting.
